

The Longevity Solutions Coach

Are you prepared to live life on your own terms when it comes to your health, finances, and lifestyle into your 90s and beyond?

If your answer to this question is no or you aren't sure, you are by no-means alone!" Almost half - 49% of Americans cite running out of money as their chief retirement concern, with another 44% citing declining health. Only 36% of Americans are confident that they will be able to retire comfortably. (Aegon Center for Longevity, Transamerica Center for Retirement Studies and Instituto de Longevidade Mongeral Aegon - Brazil)

So, if these numbers are correct, where can you go or who can you see to start the planning process and to gain access to the resources you need to be more confident about being able to maintain your health, finances, and lifestyle into your oldest years?
